POLITICAL SCIENCE MINOR

(This minor is also available on-line/onsite. See Philosophy, Politics and Economics)

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

The goal for study in political science is to maximize students' capacity to analyze and interpret the significance and dynamics of political events and governmental processes. The purpose is not simply to arouse curiosity, purvey factual information, or reveal the significance of political events and issues. Instead, study in political science is intended to equip students for managing the effects of politics on themselves and society, while equipping them with the tools to evaluate and shape future political action. Political Science should prepare politically interested and concerned students to deal with their political world after graduation, in ways appropriate to their individual inclinations as actively engaged citizens in our democratic society.

Courses in political science are an integral facet of a well-rounded liberal arts education and valuable to students from all academic disciplines. Students are encouraged to connect and apply their knowledge and skills to real-life political situations in off-campus settings during their time at Eastern. Political Science is an integral component of several programs at EOU, including (1) major in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics, along with pre-approved Liberal Studies programs in (2) Small City and Rural County Management and (3) Environmental Studies.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Students who complete a minor in Political Science should be able to:

- Assess different theories, concepts, methods, and analytical approaches employed by the discipline of political science.
- Evaluate problems of normative inquiry as well as those of empirical analysis, and synthesize the two appropriately in the analysis of the political ideas, values, and assumptions underlying public policy conflicts.
- Compare the problems of diversity faced by different peoples in different nations (including the students' own), with the interrelated nature of the world's political, economics, and social problems.
- Judge contemporary political analysis via the ability to recognize, arguments, test hypotheses and support via oral and written communication.
- Apply contextual knowledge and skills to the public policy process and "real-life" political situations via the opportunity to observe and participate as an informed citizen in a variety of on and off-campus settings.

MEANS OF ASSESSMENT

Political Science students are evaluated in a variety of ways across the curriculum. Evaluation modes and strategies attempt to measure program learning outcomes. Objective exams measure student mastery of the concepts, critical thinking and logic skills underlying the study of political science. Writing in a variety of formats including policy memoranda, short essay examinations, critical reading summaries, and research papers of varying length hone the student's abilities in communication, persuasion, and critical thinking. Role-playing exercises and group processes improve the student's ability to work in collaborative situations. Students are encouraged to self-assess their own learning as well as develop an understanding of the evaluative strategies utilized by faculty members.

OTHER PROGRAMS

The degrees that are available with an emphasis in Political Science are B.A. or B.S. in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics or a B.A. or B.S. in Liberal Studies.

REQUIREMENTS FOR THE MINOR IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

The taxing, spending and regulatory decisions of government affect the activities of virtually every profession, from the fine arts to the hard sciences. Therefore, a minor in Political Science is a valuable complement to any major.

A minor will consist of the following:

- A. A minimum of 30 credit hours in Political Science, 20 of which must be graded.
- B. At least 15 upper division credit hours in Political Science.
- C. A "C-" or better in all courses counted toward the minor.

Pre-Professional and Transfer Programs

Depending upon the academic area, the College of Arts & Sciences offers either one or two years of course work, paralleling requirements of universities from which degrees in those areas are offered.

Upon completion of pre-professional course-work at EOU, students may then transfer to institutions offering the full program for degree completion.

AGRICULTURE SCIENCES www.eou.edu/osuag

ENGINEERING physics.eou.edu

FISHERIES AND WILDLIFE

EOU offers two years of transferable course work in the area of Fisheries and Wildlife with most students then transferring to Oregon State University or another university offering the full degree program. Students interested in pursuing the Fish and Game Management option, however, should transfer after one year at EOU. Typical coursework includes one-year sequences of general biology with lab and general chemistry with lab, in addition to courses such as geology, mathematics, statistics, speech, writing, and physical education. Additional courses within chemistry and/or physics may be required, depending upon the school to which a student will be transferring. Students are strongly encouraged to obtain prerequisite information from the schools to which they will be applying and to work closely with their EOU pre-fisheries and wildlife adviser when selecting appropriate coursework to meet the prerequisite requirements.

FORESTRY

EOU offers the first year of course work in Forestry which can then be transferred to Oregon State University or another college offering the full degree program. In case of inadequate preparation, two years of coursework may be necessary. Typical prerequisite coursework includes an introductory course in forestry, plant taxonomy, and one-year sequences of general biology with lab and general chemistry with lab. Prerequisites also include coursework in mathematics, economics, speech, writing, and physical education. Students are strongly encouraged to obtain prerequisite information from the schools to which they will be applying and to work closely with their EOU pre-forestry adviser when selecting appropriate coursework to meet the prerequisite requirements.
