This survey is given to all students enrolled for ensemble credit within the Music Department. Please circle the number that best describes your answer. Numbers 1 and 2 are considered less strong, developing. Numbers 3,4 and 5 are considered average or adequate, and numbers 6 and 7 are above average, proficient.

Civic Engagement has two meanings within our Music Ensembles. As part of an ensemble, you engage within the ensemble (between members) and outside the ensemble when performing for an audience. In this survey we are trying to gather information on both types of engagement. See weblink for complete survey.

In music performance classes we stress the importance of group engagement, as well as the engagement with an audience during a performance and after. In Fall 2009, the Music Faculty convened to discuss how best to implement the GEC Criteria for Civic Engagement in the performance ensembles. Since Civic Engagement is a large part of the mission of the music department, we decided that the best approach for capturing data was a student survey that incorporated the Gen Ed rubric criteria. We administered the survey in all ensemble classes late in the Fall Term.

What the data tells us is that we are doing a good job of exposing students to multiple ways of engagement, both within class and outside of class. We perform for all types of community endeavors and students are constantly adjusting to different performance situations. They also deal with numerous guest artists and clinicians. According to the survey, 90% of the students feel they are adequate or proficient as negotiating within the ensemble community and the community at large.

We believe that effective planning by all professors prior to the next survey will greatly increase its effectiveness, and to norm ourselves with the Gen Ed criteria. We will work to develop clear classroom approaches to heighten student awareness and understanding of the survey and its importance. We feel this will improve our student learning, through awareness of opportunities to engage both within the ensembles and as members of a larger community.
