Student Affairs 2009-10 Annual Report

Department: Student Relations

Mission Statement

The Office of Student Relations is committed to promoting student progress and personal development that enhances the campus community by promoting student responsibility, building bridges, developing and revising policies, and enhancing services.

2009-10 Goals and Goal Attainment Summary

- SLOAP/Assessment
 - Work with directors and staff during the year with the continuation of the development of student learning outcomes. In addition, identify ways in which to “close the loop” on the learning outcomes process (assessment).
 - Meetings were held with the following units within Student Affairs to identify learning outcomes and strategies for 2009-10:
 - Counseling Center
 - Streamline assessments of individual programming initiatives
 - The evaluation/assessment will be reflected in the Counseling Center 2009-10 Annual Report
 - Athletics
 - Develop learning outcomes for civic engagement utilizing reflection mode of evaluation
 - Parent’s night out
 - Retirement communities
 - Reading buddies
 - The Director of Student Relations was unable to accomplish this goal this past year. Hopefully the learning outcomes will be reflected in the 2009-10 Athletics Annual Report
 - Multicultural Center
 - Diversity and Education
 - Value of living in a diverse society through

- Talking Circles and Movie Nights
 - The evaluation/assessment will be reflected in the Multicultural Center's 2009-10 Annual Report
 - Center for Student Involvement
 - Leadership Program
 - Name two concepts about leadership that you learned today after participating in the leadership conference.
 - The evaluation/assessment will be reflected in the Center for Student Involvement's 2009-10 Annual Report
 - Residence Life
 - Living Learning Community
 - A pilot Living Learning Community has been developed for fall 2010 and with a potential cohort of 20 residence hall students. Learning outcomes will be developed prior to fall 2010.
 - Develop Learning Outcomes for the Office of Student Relations
 - Learning outcomes were not developed but will be developed and implemented in 2010-11.
- Regional Outreach
 - Meet with regional center directors to work collaboratively to establish protocols and procedures necessary for the success of our students
 - Telephone conferences were held with the majority of regional center directors in an effort to identify issues that need to be addressed and how Student Affairs may assist the directors with helping EOU students. Discussions will continue during the coming year. There were two issues of concern that stood out - syllabi/course availability and student ID cards. These two issues, and others, were forwarded to the appropriate areas/divisions for review and action. See Appendix A for a list of all the issues identified by the regional center directors, the areas/departments that may need to address them, and what has been addressed to date.
 - Review and propose a student services website for all students (onsite, online, on campus) in collaboration with regional center directors and supervisors.
 - As a result of the moratorium on website revisions during the EOU Accreditation Team visit, the review and proposal for a student services website was put on hold. The general website "student services" homepage tab was revised through the Office of Student Affairs.
- Web site
 - Review and revise the online emergency request form and the policies identified with the process.
 - The online emergency request form and policies were reviewed and revised to include both incomplete requests and requests for medical withdrawal. There was a slight glitch initially in the receipt of the requests (email address was not receiving emails) by the Director of Student Relations. The campus community and regional center directors were notified immediately of the situation. It was determined that there was only one request that was not received at the time and the request was addressed immediately. The emergency request form may be found at <http://www.eou.edu/saffairs/withdrawals.html>.

- Develop a Student Relations web site.
 - The Student Relations web site was developed and can be found at <http://www.eou.edu/saffairs/relations.html>. A section will be added to the website regarding the Student Conduct Program.
- Assessment
 - Work with the EOU NSSE Assessment Team
 - The 2009 NSSE assessment was conducted during the months of April and May 2009. An email was sent to 1232 students (539 freshmen, 693 seniors) requesting their participation in the survey. Of the 1232 students emailed, 314 (125 freshmen, 189 seniors) responded. For an overview of the results, see Appendix B.
 - Work with the Tri-State Compass Team
 - Represented EOU at the January 2010 AAC&U Conference and co-presented – LEAP in Oregon: High Impact Practices
 - Attended the Tri-state Compass Grant Mini Conference at EOU in April and co-presented – The Student Affairs Perspective: How to foster a strong working relationship between student and academic affairs. What outcomes are universal?
 - See Appendix C to review the Office of Student Affairs tri-state compass co-curriculum two year accomplishments report.
 - CAS (Council for the Advancement of Standards) Program Reviews
 - CAP – reconvene the team in the fall to continue the Campus Activities Program Assessment
 - The CAP program evaluation team was reconvened with newly identified team members. An evaluation of the program was conducted. It was determined, however, that since the campus activities program was undergoing a reorganization, the evaluation of the program should be halted and revisited after the reorganization. Even though the program evaluation was halted, evaluation results that were received were reported to the Center for Student Involvement for future consideration. See Appendix D to review the CAS CAP evaluation report.
 - Multicultural Student Programs and Services – develop the team and begin the assessment F09
 - During the course of the year it was determined that conducting multiple CAS program evaluations within the academic year was not feasible. Therefore, the CAS evaluation for Multicultural Student Programs and Services will be conducted during the 2010-11 academic year.

- Recreational Sports Programs – develop the team and begin the assessment Sp10
 - During the course of the year it was determined that conducting multiple CAS program evaluations within the academic years was not feasible. Therefore, the CAS evaluation for Recreational Sports Programs was cancelled. In addition, the Athletics department reporting line changed and no longer reports to Student Affairs. No future program evaluation has been scheduled to date.
- The CAS program evaluation schedule/timeline will be revised to reflect the revisions to the schedule.
- Student Conduct Program
 - Learn more about the JO (Judicial Officer) program and how to pull data into future quarterly reports effectively and in a timely manner.
 - Utilizing the JO program's data management options has proved very effective.
 - There is an upgrade to JO and a new model that we plan on implementing during the 2010-11 academic year.
 - Install the Judicial Officer (JO) Software onto the Hearings Officers' computers.
 - Train the Hearings Officers on the JO software system
 - One Hearings Officer was trained to use the JO software. With the revisions to the student conduct program (residence hall staff conducting hearings for violations in the residence halls), it was not necessary to move forward with the JO training.
- Academic Success Program
 - Work with various departments on campus to develop and implement the Early Alert Program and with the EOU webmaster regarding the online Early Alert Program reporting document.
 - In collaboration with the CORE 101 Coordinator, the Early Alert Program was developed. The development consisted of a website (<http://www.eou.edu/ssp/earlyalert.html>) that includes an online reporting form and resources for students and faculty. The program was launched at the beginning of fall term 2009. A campus-wide notification via email and meetings with colleges and regional center directors took place the first week of opening session. Fall term 2009, 64 early alerts were received and followed up on (see Appendix E for more information). As a result of the success and volume of the program, Winter term 2010 the program was forwarded to the Division of Enrollment Services/Academic and Career Advising and confined to freshman students only because they have more resources with which to respond to these alerts. The Student Relations Office within Student Affairs continued to work with early alert notifications for students other than freshmen. During winter term 2010 six early alerts and three during spring term 2010 were submitted to the Director of Student Relations.

- Policies and Procedures revisions
 - Continue to work on the policies and procedures
 - Grievance Procedures
 - The Grievance Committee, of which I am a member, was commissioned by Provost Jaeger to facilitate the revisions to the Grievance Procedures. The Committee discussed the revisions and the plans to revise. See Appendix F for the plan and timeline.
 - Medical Withdrawal Policy
 - The Medical Withdrawal Policy was adopted into practice on February 15, 2010. The Medical Withdrawal Policy may be found at <http://www.eou.edu/saffairs/handbook/medical.html>.
 - Time, Place, Manner Policy
 - The Time, Place, and Manner Policy was adopted into practice on March 1, 2010. The Time, Place, and Manner Policy may be found at <http://www.eou.edu/saffairs/handbook/manner.html>.
 - Student Travel Policy
 - The Student Travel Policy has been reviewed but not yet revised. The related departments have been contacted and discussions regarding revisions have been conducted. The Student Travel Policy will continue to be reviewed and discussed during the 2010-11 academic year.
 - Other policies as the need arises
 - Clery Report Additions/Revisions:
 - Missing Person Policy – the Missing Person’s Policy was adopted into practice on February 15, 2010. The Missing Person Policy may be found at <http://www.eou.edu/saffairs/handbook/missing.html>.
 - Student Employee Policy was revised on January 27, 2010. The Student Employee Policy may be found at http://www.eou.edu/saffairs/documents/student_employment_policy.pdf.
 - Classroom Decorum Policy
 - The Classroom Decorum Policy memo of deletion was approved by University Council on February 15, 2010. The section of the handbook will be revised to reflect the deletion.
 - Dogs on Campus (Animal Control) Policy

- The Animal Control policy is currently being revised. The policy will be submitted for approval during fall term 2010.

- Publication(s):
 - White identity development in a multicultural age. Reflections, W10

Issues/Challenges Facing the Department

- Lack of Clerical Assistance
 - While the Executive Assistant to the Vice President for Student Affairs assists the Director of Student Relations with conduct matters and calendaring, the increase in student contact volume as a result of the ombudsperson responsibilities has proved to be more than the assistant can handle, in addition to her responsibilities to the Vice President. An office assistant for the Director of Student Relations and Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs would prove a tremendous asset for the division.
- Location and Office Assistance
 - The location of the Director of Student Relations office in relation to the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs and staff is a continuing problem. The move to Inlow Hall winter term 2011 should help alleviate this matter.

Academic Affairs

- Honors – What are the options for on-line students to participate in the Honors Program or in honor societies? (We hope that OrgSynch can fill this need when implemented fall term. Honors program is on hiatus in 2010-11 as it gets revamped)
- Graduation Reception – strongly encourage faculty to attend the graduation reception on Friday night before commencement. Faculty presence/lack of presence for on-line students can have a “powerful or devastating” impact. Also encourage students to attend graduation. (2) (Liz sent an e-mail out and Camille mentioned it to President’s Cabinet)
- Some on-line students feel a lack of identity or connection with EOU. What resources can they utilize? How can we get them to feel more connected? (OrgSynch might fulfill part of this need but will also work with Cabinet to address)
- Timely feedback from faculty to student requests (respond within 24 hours)
- Would like to learn more about awards available for on-line students. Saw the notice about Pinnacle Awards but was not sure who qualified. (Can we create an award(s) for on-line students? We might explore an Honor’s Society web page that would identify active societies)
- Syllabi/Course availability (5)
 - Regional Directors mentioned the importance of having syllabi available during pre-registration. When it is not, it creates hassles with drops/adds and filling seats in courses after students enroll and then find out what course involves. Students tend to look at all their courses, the work load, and when tests and assignments are due but without being able to see the course syllabi and get an overall picture it is hard to schedule courses (e.g., proctored exams, books required, exam times, etc.). Also, faculty needs to learn how to standardize syllabi so that a student looking at one knows where to find things. To order books need that information on the syllabi. Clearer, more explicit assignments on the syllabi so students know course expectations would be helpful. Adjunct faculty often have trouble posting syllabi. Concern about losing students if this information is not readily available.
 - Perhaps create an instruction manual for faculty on posting syllabi and for students on how to access syllabi
 - Concern expressed over class schedules not being up in advance
 - Paper four-term course schedules need to be available as soon as possible
 - If faculty are ill, notify students
 - #1 complaint from students

ACA

- Regional director resource/procedures manual to know how to find things, where to go on the web site to assist with transition to a new regional director.
- What is the possibility of doing on-line job fairs through Career Services?

Enrollment Services

- The on-line writing lab is a great resource. Would it be possible to do a comparable on-line Math lab, especially now that math is required for graduation?
- Student ID cards – (3)
 - Regional Directors mentioned that on-line and on-site students have expressed an interest in being able to have an EOU ID card. It gives them a connection to EOU while also allowing them to get student discounts in their area and, if close enough to La Grande, attend athletic events, plays, etc.

University Advancement

- What about hosting receptions at regional sites for current EOU students as well as alumni?
- EOU web site – hard to find things. (being revamped) The directory is not accessible to students and adjunct instructors aren't listed so students can't find out how to contact them.
 - A new hard copy faculty/staff directory would be helpful for Regional Directors in working with their students.

Student Affairs

- Emergency request process is working well (2)
- Consider adding students and/or Regional Directors in Union, Wallowa, Umatilla, and Baker counties to "What's Up" list serv
- Is student health insurance available for on-line students? Or are there other options for insuring? (2) (Current contract does not allow on-line students to opt-in. Concern about driving cost up for on-campus students).
- Could you provide an on-line form to ask questions for students who don't know where to go? How can we create a sense of community with students who are on-line? Student Affairs has created one and is putting it on our web site.
- Could you provide a resource page for online students? Student Affairs has created one and is putting it on our web site.
- Organizations for on-line students so they may connect? Provide on-line classifieds and/or book exchange? (We hope that OrgSynch can fill this need when implemented fall term)

Student Accounts/Financial Aid/Bookstore

- Communicate with on-line students about
 - book vouchers and book ordering through EOU bookstore
 - when the bookstore will be closed (for inventory for example)

Office of Student Affairs
Tri-State Compass Co-Curriculum
Year Two Accomplishments

1. Educate campus on the role of co-curricular programming in student learning. Develop communication plan for educating academic units and committees about transformational learning and informing them about NSSE results.

- NSSE Results: provided overview handout to Student Affairs Staff, HUM/CORE facilitators, and Provost's Office. A "student affairs perspective" report of the NSSE data is in progress and will be completed by July 30, 2010.
- Communication Plan: In an effort to develop a culture of collaboration and transparency, the communication plan consists of Infoline and Eastalk messages (employee list serves) to campus community as events/opportunities occur/arise, quarterly messages and/or meetings to and with academic colleges/divisions, individual faculty meetings as necessary, and web site revision notifications. In addition, members of the Student Affairs staff met at beginning of the year with each college/division to share programming initiatives and importance of collaboration and partnerships. The Vice President for Student Affairs and Director of Student Relations are currently in the process of conducting telephone conferences (complete by June 1, 2010) with Regional Center Directors to identify areas of concern and how we may better assist on-site and on-line students.
- Co-curricular programming: There are many areas to report on regarding the co-curricular programming. A milestone accomplishment is that of the development of a living-learning community (LLC) program in the residence halls. A LLC has been developed for fall 2010 and will have a cohort of 20 residence hall students. The LLC will consist of a cohort of students in an environmental science course, a sociology course, and a first year experience course. The common theme is Power of Place.

Several opportunities for academic programming in the residence halls, Multicultural Center, and the athletic department include regular writing, math, and library tutoring sessions offered in each area.

- The Multicultural Center developed a major speaker/movie series (in collaboration with the EOU Diversity Committee and various academic units across campus) to share with campus community the need to work together on issues. Movies that were shown include Precious and Papers. Additionally, the Multicultural Center provided opportunities for talking circles with faculty, staff and students; and partnered with the Center for Student Involvement to send 35 students to the Oregon Students of Color (OSoCC) and the Northwest Student Leadership (NSLC) conferences. In turn, the students that attended presented various workshops and programs across campus, as well as at the annual EOU Student Leadership Conference in April.
- The Athletic Department, in collaboration with the Center for Student Involvement, developed a Leadership Committee and encouraged student-athlete involvement in the National Society of Leadership and Success program. A membership orientation was conducted in winter term 2010. Student athletes also participated in a Red Cross Blood Drive winter and spring terms.
- The Center for Student Involvement is currently having discussions with the College of Business regarding the development and implementation of a Leadership minor.

- With regard to the inclusion of online students in co-curricular activities, the purchase of the software program OrgSync will prove instrumental. This program will allow students to participate in, and develop, clubs and organizations on a 24-7 basis (Fall 2010 implementation).

2. Partner with academic divisions to identify transformational learning opportunities in diversity, engagement, and leadership across the curriculum.
Participate in university colloquia series to present best practices in transformational learning.

While Student Affairs did not utilize the university colloquia series, the following presentations/collaborations occurred:

- Diversity
 - o Title IX issues/information within Athletics
 - o Multicultural Center talking circles, diversity forum meetings, and movie/event series programming - the campus community is invited to participate
 - o Diversity training with residence hall staff, Multicultural Center staff, and Student Affairs staff
- Engagement
 - o The living-learning community environment program is as a result of the partnership between teaching faculty and the residence life staff.
 - o Reading Group: a reading group was developed to discuss a particular article related to student success every other week. All faculty and staff of EOU are encouraged to participate. The reading group has been received well and attendance has a variety of representation across campus.
 - o The Vice President for Student Affairs regularly meets with faculty and staff regarding issues of concern or interest in an effort to model transformational learning and leadership across the curriculum.
 - o Inclusion of the Regional Center Directors.
- Leadership
 - o LEAP/SLOAP workshop: Participated in and presented at the Tri-State Compass Mini Conference in April 2010. The topic presented was The Student Affairs Perspective: How to foster a strong working relationship between student and academic affairs. We discussed what outcomes are universal and stressed the need for Student Affairs staff to be at the table when discussing learning outcomes.
 - o The Division of Student Affairs demonstrates an understanding of the development, implementation, and assessment of student learning outcomes as noted by the 2008 Accreditation team comments:

“The Division of Student Affairs is to be commended for the successful development and implementation of the Student Learning Outcomes Assessment Project (SLOAP) in 2006-2007. This project will enable the institution to align its curricular and co-curricular learning outcomes in ways that add value to an EOU student’s educational experience.”

CAP Evaluation Report

Campus Activities Program
CAS Self-Assessment
2008-2010 Program Review Period

Prepared for:
The Center for Student Involvement

Prepared by:
Colleen Dunne-Cascio
Director of Student Relations
Eastern Oregon University
July 2010

The Division of Student Affairs ascribes to The Council for the Advancement of Standards in Higher Education (CAS) Professional Standards of Higher Education. In keeping to these standards, an assessment (evaluation) plan has been developed within Student Affairs that allows for, at minimum, one department/program area to be reviewed annually.

The CAS Self-assessment was administered to evaluate the Campus Activities Program (CAP) within the Center for Student Involvement (CSI), formerly known as the Student Activities Program, in both the 2008-2009 and 2009-10 academic years.

In May 2009 the CAP Assessment Team (see Appendix A for a list of Assessment Team Members) was convened to begin the assessment process. The Mission section of the self-assessment was completed as a team and each team member identified the areas of interest to evaluate. As a result of the late start of beginning the evaluation process, the team was unable to complete a full evaluation of the program before the end of the academic year. Team members, however, agreed to reconvene in the 2009 10 academic year.

In February 2010, the Team was asked to reconvene. As a result of unforeseen circumstances, many of the team members were unable to continue to participate in the evaluation process and a new Team was convened (see Appendix A for a list of the new Team members).

The Team members were split into three break out groups and assigned to evaluate specific components of the CAP (see Appendix B for a list of break out groups and assignments). Groups 1 and 3 completed the evaluations of the assigned components. Group 2 did not conduct the evaluations. When asked whether or not

Group 2 would be completing the CAP evaluations, it was mentioned that since the Center for Student Involvement was undergoing a transition and reorganization, the group felt it was mute to continue the evaluation process, especially when a major component of the program (Eastern Student Entertainment) was moving to another unit within Student Affairs. As a result, the evaluation of the Campus Activities Program was postponed.

The evaluations that were completed for both the 2008-09 and 2009-10 academic years were compiled and entered into the CAP Self-Assessment Guide for the Campus Activities Program. As a result of the postponement of the evaluation, an analysis of the evaluation was not conducted. The Self-Assessment will be forwarded to the Center for Student Involvement for review as the information may assist in the reorganization and future program development/enhancement.

Self-Assessment Guide Campus Activities Program July 2010 Report

Part 1: MISSION

The purpose of the Campus Activities Program (CAP) must be to enhance the overall educational experience of students through development of, exposure to, and participation in programs and activities that improve student cooperation and leadership while preparing students to be responsible advocates and citizens and complementing the institution's academic programs.

These activities could be intellectual, social, recreational, cultural, multicultural, and spiritual in nature. Programs could pertain to leadership, governance, community service, healthy lifestyles, and organizational development.

The Campus Activities Program (CAP) must incorporate student learning and student development in its mission. The CAP must enhance overall educational experiences. The CAP must develop, record, disseminate, implement, and regularly review its mission and goals. Mission statements must be consistent with the mission and goals of the institution and with the standards in this document. The CAP must operate as an integral part of the institution's overall mission.

Campus activities programs must provide opportunities for students to:

- participate in co-curricular activities
- participate in campus governance
- advocate for their organizations and interests
- develop leadership abilities
- develop healthy interpersonal relationships
- use leisure time purposefully
- develop ethical decision-making skills
- advocate for student organizations and interests

Part 2: PROGRAM

The formal education of students consists of the curriculum and the co-curriculum, and must promote student learning and development that is purposeful and holistic. The CAP must be (a) intentional, (b) coherent, (c) based on theories and knowledge of learning and human development, (d) reflective of developmental and demographic profiles of the student population, and (e) responsive to needs of individuals, special populations, and communities.

CAPs must be comprehensive and reflect and promote the diversity of student interests and needs, allowing especially for the achievement of a sense of self-esteem and community pride.

A comprehensive CAP program should include offerings that vary in type, size, scheduling, and cost.

The CAP must be of broad scope, inclusive of all educational domains for student learning and development.

Programs should include activities that:

- complement classroom instruction and academic learning
- offer instruction and experience in leadership and working in groups
- promote physical and psychosocial well-being
- promote understanding of and interaction with people of one's own culture and other cultures
- foster meaningful interactions between students and members of the faculty, staff, and administration
- build specific group communities and identity with the campus community

The CAP must offer and encourage student participation in student-led campus activities.

Additional encouragement can come from club advisors, faculty, staff, parents, peers, administrators, and others.

The CAP should create environments in which students can:

- explore activities in individual and group settings for self-understanding and growth
- learn about diverse cultures and experiences
- explore ideas and issues through the arts
- design and implement programs to enhance social, cultural, multicultural, social justice, intellectual, recreational, service, and campus governance involvement
- comprehend institutional policies and procedures and their relationship to individual and group interests and activities
- learn of and use campus facilities and other resources
- plan, market, implement, and assess programs

The CAP should enhance the retention and graduation of students and strengthen campus and community relations. Programs and events should be planned and implemented collaboratively by students, professional staff, and faculty.

CAP must ensure that the institution has a policy for the registration and recognition of student organizations.

The CAP must include these fundamental functions: implementing campus programs that add vibrancy to the campus, advising student organizations that implement programs or services, advising student governing organizations, ensuring the proper and efficient stewardship of funds including the student activity fee and institutional allocation, and implementing training, development, and educational opportunities.

Programs may evolve from the CAP office or from student organizations and student governing bodies and should add richness to the institution and its integral functions. The CAP should strive to build student institutional loyalty and allegiance while promoting citizenship and civility.

Student and student organizations' awards programs should be based on fair and equitable criteria.

These functions may be achieved directly or in collaboration or consultation with other campus entities.

Programs sponsored by the CAP must be produced and promoted according to professional and institutional practices and protocols.

Promotion methods the CAP may use include the creation and dissemination, either in print or on-line, of activities calendars, organizational directories, student handbooks, and programming and financial management guides.

Entertainment programs should:

- reflect the values stated in the institution and CAP mission statements
- maintain admission fees at levels that encourage widespread student attendance
- implement hospitality requirements that prohibit the provision of alcohol to entertainers where appropriate
- include a constituency-based advisory system for activities planning, implementation, and evaluation, to ensure coordination within the larger campus academic calendar

Contracts must be signed by an appropriate authority identified by institutional policies and procedures.

The CAP should provide guidance and training that enables students to recruit, negotiate with, and select performers.

Advising

The CAP must provide effective administrative support for student organizations. Every student organization must have an advisor. The criteria for who may serve as an advisor and the role and responsibilities of advisors must be defined by the institution.

Responsibilities of advisors can include attending organization meetings, meeting with organization officers as a group or individually, overseeing budget and financial transactions, serving as an advocate for the organization, serving as a liaison between the institution and students, assisting the organization in problem-solving, and overseeing the election and/or appointment of new officers. Advising can take place through face-to-face meetings or via telephone, email, instant messaging, or other communication methods.

Advisors should be institutional faculty, staff, or graduate student employees.

Advisors must be knowledgeable of legal issues and institutional policies especially regarding risk management.

The CAP must provide information and training opportunities for advisors.

CAP staff should be available to provide oversight and to consult and problem-solve with advisors. Advisors who volunteer their time should be recognized by the institution for their contributions.

Advisors should:

- be knowledgeable of student development theory and philosophy to appropriately support students and also to encourage learning and development.
- have adaptive advising styles in order to be able to work with students with a variety of skill and knowledge levels
- have interest in the students involved in the organization
- have expertise in the topic for which the student group is engaged
- understand organizational development processes and team building

Student Governance

Student governance groups must have a written mission, purpose, and process for continuity of leadership that is regularly reviewed. Criteria for student involvement must be clear, widely publicized, easily accessible, and consistently followed. Budgeting and fiscal procedures must be clearly defined and must follow all applicable laws. Clearly defined grievance procedures must exist to settle disagreements regarding continuity of leadership, budgeting procedures, and ethics violations by student leaders.

Student governance groups could include undergraduate and graduate student government associations, residence hall associations, campus center governing boards, sports club councils, fraternity and sorority governance councils, media boards, and college councils.

Student governance groups must be encouraged to operate in accordance with institutional values, mission, and policies, and be informed of possible consequences for failure to do so.

Student governance groups may conduct a wide variety of activities and services, including executive, judicial, legislative, business or service functions, and educational or entertainment programming.

Institutions must have policies and procedures for providing an advisor to student governance organizations.

Training, Education, and Development

The CAP must ensure that there is training, education, and development opportunities for students involved in student organizations.

Many CAPs are responsible for the training, education, and development of students who are involved in student organizations. As outlined in the CAS Standards for Student Leadership Programs, training involves those activities designed to prepare students to assume leadership positions, improve performance of the individual in the role presently occupied, and enhance participants' knowledge and understanding of specific leadership theories, concepts, models, and institutional policies and procedures needed to work effectively. Successful developmental opportunities often occur in an environment that empowers students to mature and develop toward greater levels of leadership complexity.

CAP training, education, and development activities must be delivered by a diverse range of faculty, students, and staff, using diverse pedagogies, and take place in a variety of ways.

Training, education, and development activities may take the form of retreats; one-on-one conversations; manuals, handbooks, and other publications; workshops and conferences; seminars; mentoring; and for-credit courses.

CAP training, education, and development opportunities must take into account differing student developmental levels.

Students should be trained in leadership concepts and skills, organizational development, ethical behavior, and other skills particular to distinctive programming requirements, such as contracting for entertainment.

Additional information on leadership programs for students can be found in the CAS Student Leadership Programs standards and guidelines.

Part 2: Program Overview Questions

A. What are the primary elements of the program?

B. What evidence exists that confirms the program contributes to student learning and development?

C. What evidence is available to confirm program goals' achievement?

Part 3: LEADERSHIP

Effective and ethical leadership is essential to the success of all organizations. Institutions must appoint, position, and empower Campus Activities Program (CAP) leaders within the administrative structure to accomplish stated missions. CAP leaders at various levels must be selected on the basis of formal education and training, relevant work experience, personal skills and competencies, relevant professional credentials, as well as potential for promoting learning and development in students, applying effective practices to educational processes, and enhancing institutional effectiveness. Institutions must determine expectations of accountability for leaders and fairly assess their performance.

CAP leaders must exercise authority over resources for which they are responsible to achieve their respective missions.

CAP leaders must:

- articulate a vision for their organization
- set goals and objectives based on the needs and capabilities of the population served
- promote student learning and development
- prescribe and practice ethical behavior
- recruit, select, supervise, and develop others in the organization
- manage financial resources
- manage facility resources
- coordinate human resources
- plan, budget for, and evaluate personnel and programs
- apply effective practices to educational and administrative processes
- communicate effectively
- initiate collaborative interaction between individuals and agencies that possess legitimate concerns and interests in the functional area

Because of their frequent and informal interactions with students, CAP leaders must model ethical and professional behavior.

CAP leaders must identify and find means to address individual, organizational, or environmental conditions that inhibit goal achievement.

CAP leaders must promote campus environments that result in multiple opportunities for student learning and development.

These opportunities could include activities boards; student governance bodies; academic, performance, cultural, arts, religious, recreational, and special interest organizations; program boards, theatrical productions, and media boards.

CAP leaders must continuously improve programs and services in response to changing needs of students and other constituents and evolving institutional priorities.

The CAP should be aware of the institutional strategic plan and be ready to respond to contemporary conditions and emergency preparedness. These conditions could include response to natural disasters, celebrations of notable achievements, and the changing nature of the student population.

Part 3: Leadership Overview Questions

A. In what ways are program leaders qualified for their roles?

- Met position description required degrees, licenses, etc., as noted by resume/cv for Stephen Jenkins
- Need additional information for others under CAP (student leadership, student relations, unclassified staff, etc.)
- Well qualified as outlined in position descriptions.
- Due to missing resumes for 6, Robin and Hailey, evaluator unable to fully evaluate if our leaders are qualified for their positions.

B. In what ways are program leaders positioned and empowered to accomplish the program mission?

- Uncertain as program mission unavailable
- Uncertain as additional information needed
- Leadership seems empowered to accomplish mission.
- Seem to have authority to make decisions and encouraged to make recommendations.
- Program leaders are able to accomplish the mission by training and support from the students through the leadership seminars. Also, involving more community groups.

C. How are program leaders accountable for their performance?

- Appears they are accountable for performance by performance appraisals
- Yearly evaluations. Unsure who gives input into the evaluations (i.e., students, stakeholders, etc.).
- Through frequent and comprehensive evaluation, leaders can be held accountable for their actions.

D. What leadership practices best describe program leaders?

- Per website documentation, appears program leader's function as administrative support in addition to promotion of leadership development.
- Specific formal practices are unknown, based on evidence.
- Update "leadership model" webpage?
- Inclusiveness of campus stakeholders in evaluation of programs reveals efforts by Leadership to provide transparency.
- Respectful advocates for change, encouraging to new and returning students are some of the practices currently in place by program leaders.

Additional:

- The inclusion of the Division of Student Affairs employee flowchart would be helpful.
- Are position descriptions updated when the supervisor changes or is that handled by the current performance evaluation? If the position description needs to be updated, Stephen Jenkins still has Mike Daugherty as supervisor.

Part 4: ORGANIZATION and MANAGEMENT

Guided by an overarching intent to ensure student learning and development, Campus Activities Programs (CAP) must be structured purposefully and managed effectively to achieve stated goals. Evidence of appropriate structure must include current and accessible policies and procedures, written performance expectations for all employees, functional workflow graphics or organizational charts, and clearly stated service delivery expectations.

Evidence of effective management must include use of comprehensive and accurate information for decisions, clear sources and channels of authority, effective communication practices, decision-making and conflict resolution procedures, responsiveness to changing conditions, accountability and evaluation systems, and recognition and reward processes. CAP must provide channels within the organization for regular review of administrative policies and procedures.

The CAP may be organized as an autonomous unit or may be organized in the same unit as the campus union or other programming units.

4.3 Channels are in place for regular review of administrative policies and procedures. - Need review procedure outline

Part 4: Organization and Management Overview Questions

A. What are the institutional organizational structures that define, enable, or restrain the program?

- Need additional information – uncertain if structure enables or restrains program without discussion with CAP personnel, or prior program reviews.
- Clearly defined organization chart for division that reflect channels of authority.
- Accessible policies for classified and unclassified employees
- The structures that define the program are the employee positions and how they serve the students.
- Structure that enables the program is the constitution for HUB Advisory Board.
- Restraint could come from the lack of written/enforced policy and procedure.

B. What protocols or processes are in place to insure effective management of the program?

- Solid line of reporting
- Appears well developed position descriptions (just need copies)
- Fully developed recruitment/employment protocols
- Fully developed student supervisor instructions
- CAS Review of CAP
- Employee evaluations
- The Student Handbook provided by CSI is a great start. However, most policies included are vague and leaves from for negotiation; such as, contract processes, posting policy enforcement and budgetary policies and procedures.

Part 5: HUMAN RESOURCES

The Campus Activities Program (CAP) must be staffed adequately by individuals qualified to accomplish its mission and goals. Within established guidelines of the institution, the CAP must establish procedures for staff selection, training, and evaluation; set expectations for supervision; and provide appropriate professional development opportunities. The program must strive to improve the professional competence and skills of all personnel it employs.

Appropriate continuous training opportunities should be offered for all CAP staff members. This can include training in leadership, organizational planning, diversity, ethical decision making, and communication skills. Staff members should seek to enhance their resourcefulness, empathy, creativity, and openness to serving diverse student populations. Staff members should also seek to increase their knowledge of current issues. Training and development opportunities could be achieved through participation with professional organizations.

Depending upon the scope of campus activities programs, the staff may include an activities director, a program coordinator, organization and program advisors, orientation and leadership specialists, a technology specialist, and a bookkeeper/financial officer.

CAP professional staff members must hold an earned graduate degree in a field relevant to the position they hold or must possess an appropriate combination of educational credentials and related work experience.

Relevant fields may include college student affairs, higher education administration, organizational development, or other related programs. Graduate studies should include courses in the behavioral sciences, management, recreation, student affairs, student development, and research techniques. The CAP may require particular training and experience appropriate to serving distinct campus populations and specialized campus or community needs.

The primary functions of full-time professional staff members may include the administration and coordination of campus activities programs; assessment of student interests and needs; planning, implementing, and evaluating programs with students; assisting student organizations in planning and implementing their programs; advising student groups; advising student governance organizations; and providing training, education, and development opportunities for students and advisors involved in student organizations.

Additional qualifications of campus activities staff members should include:

- ability to collaborate with faculty members, administrators, staff colleagues, students, and all other constituencies
- capacity to interpret or advocate student concerns and interests to the campus community
- expertise in the development of students
- ability to create and deliver programs, activities, and services to students and to student groups
- experience in promoting student leadership
- capability of serving as a role model for ethical behavior
- commitment to professional and personal development
- knowledge of group dynamics and ability to work effectively with groups
- ability to supervise a variety of staff including students, support staff, and professional staff
- knowledge of contracting procedures and contract negotiations
- skills in working with agents and performers
- experience in effectively managing budgets
- appropriate expertise in the use of technology

- ability to supervise student staff members
- balance the role of student advocate and the interest of the institution

At least one professional staff member should be assigned responsibility for campus activities programs.

Degree or credential-seeking interns must be qualified by enrollment in an appropriate field of study and by relevant experience. These individuals must be trained and supervised adequately by professional staff members holding educational credentials and related work experience appropriate for supervision.

Student employees and volunteers must be carefully selected, trained, supervised, and evaluated. They must be trained on how and when to refer those in need of assistance to qualified staff members and have access to a supervisor for assistance in making these judgments. Student employees and volunteers must be provided clear and precise job descriptions, pre-service training based on assessed needs, and continuing staff development.

Thorough training should be provided for student employees and volunteers to enable them to carry out their duties and responsibilities and to enhance their personal experiences with campus activities programs.

The CAP must have technical and support staff members adequate to accomplish its mission. CAP staff members must be technologically proficient and qualified to perform their job functions, be knowledgeable of ethical and legal uses of technology, and have access to training. The level of staffing and workloads must be adequate and appropriate for program and service demands.

Salary levels and fringe benefits for all CAP staff members must be commensurate with those for comparable positions within the institution, in similar institutions, and in the relevant geographic area.

The CAP must institute hiring and promotion practices that are fair, inclusive, and non-discriminatory. Programs and services must employ a diverse staff to provide readily identifiable role models for students and to enrich the campus community.

The CAP must create and maintain position descriptions for all CAP staff members and provide regular performance planning and appraisals.

The CAP must have a system for regular staff evaluation and must provide access to continuing education and professional development opportunities, including in-service training programs and participation in professional conferences and workshops.

Joint staff development efforts should be encouraged with colleagues in allied programs such as recreational sports, residence hall programming, and special programs for international students and students from traditionally under-represented groups.

Identification of staff with authority to enter into binding contracts must be made by the institution and clearly disseminated and explained to students and advisors.

Part 5: Human Resources Overview Questions

A. What is the strategic plan for staffing the program?

B. In what ways are staff members' qualifications insured and their performance judged?

C. In what ways does the program train, supervise, and evaluate staff members?

Part 6: FINANCIAL RESOURCES

The Campus Activities Program (CAP) must have adequate funding to accomplish its mission and goals. Funding priorities must be determined within the context of the stated mission, goals, objectives, and comprehensive analysis of the needs and capabilities of students and the availability of internal or external resources.

The CAP must demonstrate fiscal responsibility and cost effectiveness consistent with institutional protocols.

Methods for establishing, collecting, and allocating student and user fees must be clear and equitable. The authority and processes for decisions relevant to campus activities fees must be clearly established and funds must be spent consistent with established priorities.

Authority for decisions relevant to campus activities fees should rest in large part with students and are typically initiated by a vote of the student body. The fees, once approved through institutional processes, may be managed and allocations distributed by representative student governing bodies or by other allocation boards or committees.

Finance committees of student organizations or student governments should work collaboratively with staff members to establish campus activities fees and priorities. Students and staff members should share responsibility for budget development and implementation according to mutually established program priorities.

Students who have fiscal responsibility must be provided with information and training regarding institutional regulations and policies that govern accounting and the appropriate handling of funds.

The CAP should provide educational programs and training to students about the basics of financial management.

Due to the large amounts of money generated by campus activities and the transience of the student population, good business practice dictates that reasonable safeguards be established to ensure responsible management of and accounting for the funds involved. Student organizations may be required to maintain their funds with the institution's business office in which an account for each group is established and where bookkeeping and auditing services are provided. When possible, it is recommended that processes be established to permit individual student organizations to manage their own business transactions. Within this framework, the CAP works collaboratively with student organizations on matters of bookkeeping, budgeting, and other matters of fiscal accountability, including contract negotiations, consistent with institutional practices.

Funds for the CAP may be provided through state/provincial appropriations, institutional budgets, activities fees, user fees, membership and other specialized fees, revenues from programming or fund-raising projects, grants, and foundation resources. Funds may be supplemented by income from ticket sales, sales of promotional items, and individual or group gifts consistent with institutional policies.

In conjunction with students, the CAP must establish clear policies and procedures for funding and managing major campus events and entertainment programs necessitating large financial commitments, including concerts, athletic rivalries, homecoming, alumni days, campus traditions, and family weekend.

B. What evidence exists to confirm fiscal responsibility and cost-effectiveness?

Part 7: FACILITIES, TECHNOLOGY, and EQUIPMENT

The Campus Activities Program (CAP) must have adequate, suitably located facilities, adequate technology, and equipment to support its mission and goals efficiently and effectively. Facilities, technology, and equipment must be evaluated regularly and be in compliance with relevant federal, state/provincial, and local requirements to provide for access, health, safety, and security.

Facilities should be located conveniently and designed with flexibility to serve the wide variety of functions associated with campus activities. Appropriate facilities, accessible to all members of the college community, should be provided, including student organization offices and adequately sized and equipped public performance spaces.

The CAP may be located in the college union. [See CAS Standards and Guidelines for College Unions.] In addition to their traditional programming, social, and service facilities, unions typically house campus activities programs, student organization offices, and related meeting, work, and storage rooms. Campus activities may also take place in residence halls, recreation centers, fraternity and sorority houses, sports facilities, worship centers, and other locations. CAP space should be designed to encourage maximum interaction among students and between staff members and students.

Technological capabilities should accommodate all common communication systems including email, on-line calendars, electronic portfolios, pod casts, instant messaging, web browsing, telephone and video conferencing, and other emerging technologies.

Part 7: Facilities, Technology, and Equipment Overview Questions

A. How are facilities, technology, and equipment inventoried and maintained?

- As far as I can tell, no differently than the rest of campus.
- Little concern for adequacy of space for actual staff and programs and students and questionable handicap access.
- Certainly not easily found by majority of campus students.

B. What evidence exists to confirm facilities, technology, and equipment access, health, safety, and security for all who are served by the program?

- Evidence is merely lack of complaints?

Part 8: LEGAL RESPONSIBILITIES

Campus Activities Program (CAP) staff members must be knowledgeable about and responsive to laws and regulations that relate to their respective responsibilities. CAP staff members must inform users of programs and services and officials, as appropriate, of legal obligations and limitations including constitutional, statutory, regulatory, and case law; mandatory laws and orders emanating from federal, state/provincial, and local governments; and the institution's policies.

CAP staff members must use reasonable and informed practices to limit the liability exposure of the institution, its officers, employees, and agents. Staff members must be informed about institutional policies regarding personal liability and related insurance coverage options.

The institution must provide access to legal advice for CAP staff members as needed to carry out assigned responsibilities.

The institution must inform CAP staff and students in a timely and systematic fashion about extraordinary or changing legal obligations and potential liabilities.

CAP staff members should be well informed about current campus and student legal issues, including risk management, free speech, organization recognition and registration procedures, contractual issues, and student fees.

8.6 Both staff and students are informed in systematic fashion about extraordinary or changing legal obligations and potential liabilities.	ND	1	2	3	4	NR

Part 8: Legal Responsibilities Overview Questions

A. What are the crucial legal issues faced by the program?

- Campus needs a legal council (advocate) on campus for students and staff.
- Campus has a narrow vision of legal responsibilities – needs to include legalities of staff/student conferences, interaction and daily activities. Not just sexual harassment etc.
- Particularly concerned about liability of student staff.

B. How are staff members instructed, advised, or assisted with legal concerns?

- Workshops, conferences, and interaction with staff on other campuses.

Part 9: EQUITY and ACCESS

Campus Activities Program (CAP) staff members must ensure that services and programs are provided on a fair and equitable basis. Facilities, programs, and services must be accessible. Hours of operation and delivery of and access to programs and services must be responsive to the needs of all students and other constituents. The CAP must adhere to the spirit and intent of equal opportunity laws.

The CAP must be open and readily accessible to all students and must not discriminate except where sanctioned by law and institutional policy. Discrimination must be avoided on the bases of age; color; creed; cultural heritage; disability; ethnicity; gender identity; nationality; political affiliation; religious affiliation; sex; sexual orientation; or social, economic, marital, or veteran status.

Consistent with their mission and goals, the CAP must take affirmative action to remedy significant imbalances in student participation and staffing patterns.

As the demographic profiles of campuses change and new instructional delivery methods are introduced, institutions must recognize the needs of students who participate in distance learning for access to programs and services offered on campus. Institutions must provide appropriate services in ways that are accessible to distance learners and assist them in identifying and gaining access to other appropriate services in their geographic region.

Outreach efforts could include electronic voting for student elections and student fee assessments and online communities.

A. How does the program insure non-discriminatory, fair, and equitable treatment to all constituents?

--

- B. What policies and/or practices are in place to address imbalances in participation among selected categories of students and imbalances in staffing patterns among selected categories of staff members?

Part 10: CAMPUS and EXTERNAL RELATIONS

The Campus Activities Program (CAP) must establish, maintain, and promote effective relations with relevant individuals, campus offices, and external agencies.

The CAP should encourage faculty and staff members throughout the campus community to be involved in campus activities. Faculty members should serve as valuable resources related to their academic disciplines, especially as lecturers, performers, artists, and workshop facilitators. Faculty and staff members who serve as advisors should work directly with organizations in program and leadership development and should be supported by the CAP staff. Faculty and staff members, administrators, and students may serve together on advisory boards to provide leadership for important initiatives.

The CAP is a highly visible operation both on and off campus and may be influential in forming public opinion about the institution and creating a positive environment for the entire community. In that regard, to build bridges and connections, the CAP staff may volunteer for campus-wide or community-based committees, initiatives, and programs beyond the traditional student affairs areas.

Part 10: Campus and External Relations Overview Questions

- A. With which relevant individuals, groups, campus offices, and external agencies must the program maintain effectively relations?

- Students – EOU
- All campus offices (or the majority of)
- External agencies such as partnership programs (ODS, OHSU, OSU), local and regional high schools.
- General public
- EOU faculty
- Student staff and faculty at EOU, including those not located at EOU's campus in La Grande. Close ties with the Division of Enrollment Services, Colleges, and partnership programs (OHSU, ODS, etc.) local community and region.
- Student organization leaders, community/La Grande government officials and leaders and all campus organizations should all be included in appropriate capacity. Such as: community events include La Grande officials; campus events include needed EOU organizations.

- B. What evidence confirms effective relationships with program constituents?

- Hoke Union Building constitution
- Center for Student Involvement Website
- Event Services website
- EOU Student Handbook
- ESE web information
- I would like to see a list of events and the campus offices that work cooperatively in that program

(i.e., orientation, preview days, mountaineer days, homecoming, etc.). Perhaps a historical perspective would also help. Could also include the "Reading Group" for staff/faculty on related topics for curricular/co-curricular issues

- Great new program, but no evidence provided for this evaluation.
- List of campus sponsored events and outside events taking place on campus would be nice to review.
- EOU program pages are difficult to navigate as well as CSI section is not completed. This is evidence of a lack of connection between the campus and community at large.

Part 11: DIVERSITY

Within the context of each institution's unique mission, diversity enriches the community and enhances the collegiate experience for all; therefore, the Campus Activities Program (CAP) must nurture environments where commonalities and differences among people are recognized and honored.

The CAP must promote educational experiences that are characterized by open and continuous communication that deepens understanding of one's own identity, culture, and heritage, and that of others. The CAP must educate and promote respect about commonalities and differences in their historical and cultural contexts.

The CAP must address the characteristics and needs of a diverse population when establishing and implementing policies and procedures.

CAP staff must design and implement strategies for involving and engaging diverse student populations.

The CAP must provide educational programs that emphasize self-assessment and personal responsibility for creating and improving relationships across differences.

The CAP must support and participate in creating a welcoming and nurturing educational environment for all students.

Additional Comments: these might be 3 and 4 IF there were evidence available. I know the staff works on this and does a pretty good job but there are few available statements of goals and objectives. The Best evidence is the physical evidence of specific activities across campus. CSI should keep a specific list (perhaps use the calendar of activities) to show actual club, organization, cultural events that happen and randomly keep attendance records for these annually.

Part 11: Diversity Overview Questions

A. In what ways does the program contribute to the nurturing of diversity?

- Supports (financial, planning, event space, etc.) a diversity of clubs and activities.

B. How does the program serve the needs of diverse populations?

- By request?

Part 12: ETHICS

All persons involved in the delivery of the Campus Activities Program (CAP) must adhere to the highest principles of ethical behavior. The CAP must develop or adopt and implement appropriate statements of ethical practice. The program must publish these statements and ensure their periodic review by relevant constituencies.

Applicable statements may include principles and standards pertaining to:

- civil and ethical conduct
- accuracy of information (i.e., accurate presentation of institutional goals, services, and policies to the public and the college or university community, and fair and accurate representation in publicity and promotions)
- conflict of interest
- role conflicts
- fiscal accountability
- fair and equitable administration of institutional policies
- student involvement in relevant institutional decisions
- free and open exchange of ideas through campus activities programs
- fulfillment of contractual arrangements and agreements
- role modeling of ethical leadership practices

CAP staff members must ensure that privacy and confidentiality are maintained with respect to all communications and records to the extent that such records are protected under the law and appropriate statements of ethical practice. Information contained in students' education records must not be disclosed without written consent except as allowed by relevant laws and institutional policies. CAP staff members must disclose to appropriate authorities information judged to be of an emergency nature, especially when the safety of the individual or others is involved, or when otherwise required by institutional policy or relevant law.

All CAP staff members must be aware of and comply with the provisions contained in the institution's human subjects research policy and in other relevant institutional policies addressing ethical practices and confidentiality of research data concerning individuals.

CAP staff members must recognize and avoid personal conflict of interest or appearance thereof in their transactions with students and others.

CAP staff members must strive to insure the fair, objective, and impartial treatment of all persons with whom they deal. Staff members must not participate in nor condone any form of harassment that demeans persons or creates an intimidating, hostile, or offensive campus environment.

When handling institutional funds, all CAP staff members must ensure that such funds are managed in accordance with established and responsible accounting procedures and the fiscal policies or processes of the institution.

CAP staff members must perform their duties within the limits of their training, expertise, and competence. When these limits are exceeded, individuals in need of further assistance must be referred to persons possessing appropriate qualifications.

CAP staff members must use suitable means to confront and otherwise hold accountable other staff members who exhibit unethical behavior.

CAP staff members must be knowledgeable about and practice ethical behavior in the use of technology.

Part 12: Ethics Overview Questions

A. What ethical principles, standards, statements, or codes guide the program and its staff members?

- I am unable to fully evaluate program's ethics policies due to the lack of available documentation of principles, standards and statements. ESE's code of ethics provides minimal guidelines for

- appropriate ethical behavior and should be updated.
- ESE code of ethics
- Center for student involvement handbook
- FERPA laws
- Assume compliance with EOU's employee handbooks and policies

B. What is the program's strategy for managing student and staff member confidentiality issues?

- Unable to determine and evaluate due to missing ethics and confidentiality policies and procedures.
- FERPA?
- FERPA regulations, however, I don't see specific policy included in resource manuals.

C. How are ethical dilemmas and conflicts of interest managed?

- Unable to evaluate program; missing guidelines for dilemma resolution and conflict of interest avoidance.
- Unknown – included in student handbook? Staff training?
- Uncertain – no documentation

D. In what ways are staff members informed and supervised regarding ethical conduct?

- Unable to evaluate due to missing policy and procedures for ethical conduct and discipline.
- Unknown for staff members
- Some information in ESE document and Center for Student Involvement handbook.
- Uncertain with division. EOU has programs in place for sexual harassment that are mandatory. Search committee members are trained in affirmative action.

Part 13: ASSESSMENT and EVALUATION

The Campus Activities Program (CAP) must conduct regular assessment and evaluations. The CAP must employ effective qualitative and quantitative methodologies as appropriate, to determine whether and to what degree the stated mission, goals, and student learning and development outcomes are being met. The process must employ sufficient and sound assessment measures to ensure comprehensiveness. Data collected must include responses from students and other affected constituencies.

Assessment instrumentation and methods should be scientifically designed and implemented, and when possible, staff should seek advice and guidance and work collaboratively with institutional research offices.

The CAP must evaluate periodically how well they complement and enhance the institution's stated mission and educational effectiveness.

Results of these evaluations must be used in revising and improving programs and services and in recognizing staff performance.

The CAP should be evaluated regularly and the findings should be disseminated to appropriate campus agencies and constituencies including appropriate student organizations. Evaluation procedures should yield evidence relative to the achievement of program goals, student learning outcomes, quality and scope of program offerings, responsiveness to expressed interests, program attendance and effectiveness, cost effectiveness, quality and appearance of facilities, student success and retention, and equipment use and maintenance. Data sources should include students, staff, alumni, faculty members, administrators, community members, and relevant documents and records. Student self-assessment should be encouraged through the use of such techniques as electronic portfolios.

Records of program evaluations should be maintained in the office of the administrative leader of the CAP and should be accessible to planners of subsequent programs.
